

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A memory card drive is provided which can record a large amount of digital information. A plurality of memory card slots is provided in a memory card drive body having a memory interface. A plurality of memory cards is detachably accommodated in the memory card slots. Digital information is recorded into and played back from the memory cards through the memory interface.

10024162.121801